VMI DOCKET NO: _____

Every inventor seeking patent protection for his invention and every contributor working with the inventor and having knowledge of the invention has an obligation to disclose to the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office information of which he or she is aware that is material to examination of the patent application. Information is material to a patent examination if there is substantial likelihood that a reasonable patent examiner would consider the information related to the present invention and therefore important for consideration in deciding whether to allow the application to issue as a patent. Information of this type includes, but is not limited to, publication or any public use or sale of the invention, or any aspect of it, or similar information such as related art, from which it could be concluded that the invention would have been obvious to an individual skilled in this technology at the time of the invention.

In addition to the information set forth in the Record of Invention, are you aware of any:
